Justice Awareness for Grassroots Information and Transparency Initiative

NALSA (JAGRITI - JUSTICE AWARENESS FOR GRASS-ROOTS INFORMATION AND TRANSPARENCY INITIATIVE) SCHEME, 2025

NATIONAL LEGAL SERVICES AUTHORITY

FOREWORD

As a nation founded on the ideals of justice, equality, liberty and fraternity, we must constantly strive to translate these constitutional promises into the lived experience of every citizen. In a vibrant democracy like ours, the strength of our institutions depends not only on their design but also on the awareness and participation of the people they serve.

NALSA (JAGRITI - Justice Awareness for Grassroots Information and Transparency Initiative) Scheme, 2025, is a visionary step toward building an informed and empowered citizenry. This is not merely a scheme; it is a movement. A movement that empowers people to know their rights, to recognize injustice and to act with knowledge backed confidence.

In my view, JAGRITI is grounded in a powerful democratic belief: that citizens are not just beneficiaries of justice, but active participants in its realization. The Scheme seeks to institutionalize legal awareness through collaboration with Local Self Government Institutions like Panchayats, Nagar Panchayats and Urban Local Bodies, which are the closest instruments of governance to the people. These institutions serve as the pillars of decentralized democracy, and JAGRITI uses their existing infrastructure to reach communities with legal information, support and education.

Significantly, JAGRITI serves as a concrete and grassroots-level implementation of Article 39A of the Constitution of India, which directs the State to ensure that justice is not denied to any citizen by reason of economic or other disabilities. By taking legal awareness to the doorsteps of the underserved, especially in rural and remote areas, the Scheme ensures that the constitutional guarantee of free legal aid becomes a lived reality. It reinforces the vision enshrined in the Preamble to the Constitution: Justice, Liberty, Equality and Fraternity, and converts these noble ideals into lived realities for the common person.

The Scheme seeks to empower every citizen, particularly those in rural, remote and underserved regions, with the knowledge and confidence to assert their rights. By engaging Para Legal Volunteers, Panel Lawyers and community workers as the driving force of this awareness campaign, the Scheme ensures that legal knowledge does not remain confined to courtrooms or books, but is accessible, actionable and relatable.

Monthly legal camps, street plays, public screenings, mobile vans and awareness materials in local languages, these are not just tools, but pathways to democratic empowerment. Through them, the Scheme aims to bridge the gap between the citizen and the legal system, ensuring that no one is denied justice due to ignorance or isolation.

I commend the efforts of NALSA team in giving shape to this transformative and timely initiative. Let JAGRITI be the light that guides every individual to justice: accessible, inclusive and dignified.

MESSAGE

"If the law is not known to the people, it will remain a mystery, and injustice will rule"
– Edmund Burke

It is with great pride that we unveil the NALSA (JAGRITI-Justice Awareness for Grassroots Information and Transparency Initiative) Scheme, 2025, a milestone initiative rooted in NALSA's unwavering commitment to "Access to Justice for All."

Bridging the knowledge gap between the people and the justice system is essential to realizing the full potential of legal aid services. The JAGRITI Scheme is a strategic and timely response to this need, aiming to institutionalize legal awareness and aid dissemination through deep integration with Local Self-Government Institutions across the country.

At its core, the Scheme envisions the creation of an informed citizenry, one that is legally empowered to assert rights and seek timely redressal. It does so by establishing District and Taluk JAGRITI Units, tasked with conducting outreach and awareness activities through innovative, culturally resonant methods like Nukkad Nataks, community screenings, mobile legal aid vans, and public engagement in local languages. These Units will also ensure the optimal use of public buildings, including Panchayat Bhawans, schools and health centres, for regular dissemination of legal information.

The Scheme further seeks to maximize the reach of legal aid services by leveraging the presence of Para Legal Volunteers, Panel Lawyers, Common Service Centres, and local institutions such as Self Help Groups and Anganwadi centres. Monthly legal awareness sessions under the banner "Ghar Ghar Mein Nyay ki JAGRITI" aim to bring knowledge to every doorstep. Through legal clinics, digital campaigns, loudspeaker announcements and street-level engagement, the Scheme will enable people to better understand their rights and the remedies available under law.

More than a Scheme, JAGRITI is a movement, one that aspires to deepen the roots of justice in every corner of our nation. It is a meaningful step towards the fulfilment of Article 39A of the Constitution, which directs the State to ensure that justice is not denied to any citizen by reason of economic or other disabilities.

I commend the entire NALSA team for their persistent efforts in conceptualizing and launching this Scheme. Let us collectively strive to ensure that no voice remains unheard and no right remains unenforced, because justice must not only be delivered, but also be understood, claimed and lived.

PART I

FOUNDATIONAL FRAMEWORK

“True empowerment begins when knowledge reaches those at the grassroots, turning awareness into action.”

1. INTRODUCTION:

The importance of legal information at the grassroots level cannot be overstated. Legal awareness empowers individuals to understand their rights and navigate surrounding local problems by availing legal processes effectively. When people, particularly the weaker and vulnerable sections, are equipped with basic legal knowledge, they are better positioned to seek assistance, face adverse situations and hold authorities accountable. This, in turn, fosters greater social inclusion, safeguards human rights and reduces systemic inequality.

The efforts to empower the vulnerable sections through legal awareness and justice delivery system often becomes cumbersome due to absence of awareness of legal rights amongst the beneficiaries. Such lack of awareness results in violation of fundamental rights, prolonged legal battles and mistrust. To promote a harmonious and well-informed citizenry, bridging the knowledge gap is essential. To ensure that justice is not a privilege but a right accessible to all, legal literacy initiatives at the grassroots level are crucial. They create a just and equitable society where individuals, irrespective of their socio-economic background, empower themselves by exercising legal rights and avail the benefits of the justice delivery system.

National Legal Services Authority (hereinafter referred as “NALSA”) with the vision to promote justice for growth and reform at the grassroots level has formulated NALSA (JAGRITI - Justice Awareness for Grassroots Information and Transparency Initiative) Scheme, 2025. The Scheme aims to create a mechanism dedicated towards reaching grassroots level population, to spread legal awareness by utilizing local self-governance institutions. Through this Scheme, NALSA seeks to bridge the gap between legal framework and the grassroots population by fostering legal awareness and ensuring access to justice.

The concept of local self-governance has deep roots in India’s history. Ancient India was home to several republics, known as “Mahajanapadas,” which functioned as early forms of democratic governance. These republics, also referred to as “Ganas” or “Sanghas,” exemplified community-led decision-making and localized governance. This historical legacy has now found its modern expression in the Indian Constitution.

The Indian Constitution has also mandated, that the State should ensure equal justice and provide free legal aid, particularly to those afflicted by economic or other disabilities. To realize this mandate, the Parliament enacted the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 (hereinafter referred as “LSA Act”), which established NALSA and other Legal Services Institutions (hereinafter referred as “LSIs”) to provide free legal aid to those in need, as specified under Section 12 of the Act.

1.1 Challenges in Accessing Legal Aid

The key challenges faced in accessing legal aid include:

- a. Lack of Awareness: The 143rd Report of the Department-Related Parliamentary Standing Committee on Personnel, Public Grievances, Law and Justice (February 2024)<sup>1</sup> emphasized the lack of awareness as a significant impediment to the effective delivery of legal aid. The report noted:

"A critical issue contributing to the justice gap is the lack of awareness among those who require legal aid. Insufficient legal education leaves people unaware of their rights and the available avenues for legal assistance. India Justice Report 2019 reveals that since 1995, only 15 million individuals have availed themselves of legal aid, despite over 80 percent of the population being eligible for such assistance."

Such lack of awareness prevents large segment of the population, especially those in rural areas, from accessing legal services. The absence of grassroot level outreach programs & structured legal education exacerbates this problem.

- b. Geographical Barriers: Legal aid providers are primarily concentrated in urban centres, making it difficult for individuals in remote and rural areas to physically commute to avail their services. As per the India Justice Report, 2019<sup>2</sup>, in 2017, a total of 14,161 legal services clinics existed across around 597,000 villages. Based on these figures, an average of one legal services clinic serves 42 villages. Long distances, inadequate transportation facilities and poor connectivity further discourage individuals from promptly seeking legal assistance.
- c. Shortage of Legal Professionals: The availability of legal professionals is disproportionately low in grassroot areas. According to the Bar Council of India (2020), there is only one lawyer for every 10,000 people in rural India, compared to one lawyer for every 1,000 people in urban areas. This shortage of legal professionals affects quality of legal representation.
- d. Economic Constraints: The Law Commission of India's 128th Report (1988)<sup>3</sup> acknowledged that high litigation expenses can deter individuals from seeking justice. The report emphasized that the cost of litigation is a significant barrier to accessing justice, potentially leading many to forgo legal remedies due to financial constraints. Although legal aid is free, there are hidden costs that discourage litigants from accessing justice. Thus, the indirect costs such as transportation and loss of daily wages dissuades many from seeking legal remedies.
- e. Digital Divide & Limited Use of Technology: With the push for e-courts and online dispute resolution (ODR), digital legal aid is becoming a reality. However, grassroot India struggles with low internet penetration and digital illiteracy, which limits access to technology-driven legal services. In India there are around 692 million people who are internet users, which comprises of only 48.7% of the total Indian population.<sup>4</sup> This data underscores the digital divide.

1.2 Importance of Legal Awareness for Legal Aid

Legal awareness refers to the understanding of laws, legal rights and the procedures available to enforce these rights. It empowers individuals to make informed decisions, assert their rights and seek legal remedies when required. In a democratic society like India, legal awareness is fundamental for promoting social justice and ensuring equality before the law. It is not only a tool for empowerment but also essential for the preservation of the rule of law.

<sup>1</sup>Department-Related Parliamentary Standing Committee on Personnel, Public Grievances, Law and Justice, One Hundred Forty-Third Report On The Subject "Review Of The Working Of Legal Aid Under The Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987", 13 (2024)

Legal awareness is an essential pillar for the effective delivery of legal aid. Without a clear understanding of their rights and the availability of free legal services, many individuals cannot access the justice system. This awareness enables people to recognize legal violations, approach appropriate authorities and seek redress. Legal aid mechanisms, no matter how robust, cannot be effective if the intended beneficiaries are unaware of their existence or how to access them. Thus, legal awareness bridges the gap between legal rights and their realization, ensuring that justice reaches those who need it the most.

Legal aid is the method adopted to ensure that no one is deprived of professional advice and help due to lack of funds. The main objective is to make justice available to the vulnerable, downtrodden and weaker sections of society. In this regard, Justice P.N. Bhagwati aptly observed<sup>5</sup>:

"The legal aid means providing an arrangement in the society so that the machinery of administration of justice becomes easily accessible and is not out of reach of those who have to resort to it for enforcement of its given to them by law. The poor and illiterate should be able to approach the courts, and their ignorance and poverty should not be an impediment in the way of their obtaining justice from the courts. Legal aid should be available to the poor and illiterate, who don't have access to courts. One need not be a litigant to seek aid by means of legal aid."

However, it needs to be highlighted that, despite the establishment of legal aid mechanisms, significant gaps remain in reaching those who need it the most. According to the information given by the Minister of State (Independent Charge) of the Ministry of Law & Justice, Shri Arjun Ram Meghwal in a written reply in Lok Sabha and published by Press Information Bureau, the beneficiaries of legal aid and advice from 2022-23 to 2024-25 (Upto September, 2024) are as under:

Beneficiaries of Legal Aid and Advice

Years	Persons provided Panel Advocates	Persons benefited through Advice/ Counselling	Persons benefited through other services	Total
2022-23	2,91,410	6,39,230	2,84,129	12,14,769
2023-24	3,24,914	9,47,087	2,78,163	15,50,164
2024-25 (Upto Sept,24)	1,68,380	5,05,386	86,012	7,59,778

<sup>5</sup> Speaking through the Legal Aid Committee formed in 1971 by the State of Gujarat on Legal Aid with its Chairman, Mr. P.N. Bhagwati along with its members, Mr. J.M. Thakore, A.G., Mr. V.V. Mehta, Deputy Speaker, Gujarat Vidhan Sabha, Mr. Madhavsinh F. Solanki, M.L.A, Mr. Girishbhai C. Patel, Principal, New Lal College, Ahmedabad. His Lordship answered to the question of inequality in the administration of justice between the rich and the poor:

Thus, the total number of beneficiaries of legal aid and advice amounts to 3,524,711. In contrast, the population of India as per the 2011 Census is 1,210,854,977. This indicates that only about 0.29% of the population has accessed legal aid services. Such figures highlight the limited reach of legal assistance and the urgent need to bridge this gap. Given this substantial gap, it becomes evident that enhancing legal awareness is essential to expanding the reach of legal aid. Without targeted and consistent awareness campaigns, the legal aid system risks excluding the very people it aims to serve.

Recognizing the significance of awareness in ensuring the success of legal aid initiatives, the Hon'ble Supreme Court, in Suhas Chakma v. Union of India & Ors (2024 INSC 813), emphasized:

“For the success of the functioning of the legal aid mechanism, awareness is the key. A robust mechanism should be put in place and periodically updated to ensure that the various beneficial schemes promoted by the Legal Services Authorities reach the nook and corner of the nation and particularly, to those whose grievances it has set out to address. Adequate literature, including in the local languages in the States, and appropriate promotional methods should be launched so that the consumers of justice to whom the schemes are intended can make the best use of the same.”

This landmark judgment also underscores the necessity of a structured and sustainable approach to legal awareness & its dissemination, amongst those communities which are most vulnerable and underserved.

2. EXISTING LEGAL PROVISIONS AND POLICY FRAMEWORK

- 2.1 The principle of equal access to justice is a fundamental tenet of the Indian Constitution, reflecting the State's commitment to ensure that justice is not denied to any citizen due to economic or social constraints. The Preamble of the Indian Constitution reflects the vision of the framers of the Constitution towards justice for all. It represents the philosophy of a welfare state aiming to achieve justice-social, economic and political. This commitment is rooted in the harmonious relationship between Fundamental Rights (Part III) and Directive Principles of State Policy (Part IVA) of our Indian Constitution. While Fundamental Rights guarantee and protect individuals with basic human rights, Directive Principles act as a guide for the State to establish socio-economic conditions where rights of individuals can be meaningfully exercised.
- 2.2 Article 14 of the Constitution guarantees equality before the law and equal protection of the laws. This provision ensures that every individual, regardless of socio-economic background, has an equal right to seek legal remedies. It forms the bedrock of the legal framework that mandates non-discrimination and equal access to legal processes for all citizens.
- 2.3 Article 21, which protects the right to life and personal liberty, has been expansively interpreted by the Supreme Court to include the right to legal representation. In Hussainara Khatoon v. State of Bihar (1979 AIR SC 1369), the Court emphasized that the right to free legal aid is implicit under Article 21, especially for indigent accused who cannot afford legal representation. The judicial interpretation has extended the scope of this Article to include the right to free legal aid for marginalized groups, thereby reinforcing the constitutional commitment which is substantive justice for all.

- 2.4 Article 39A, introduced through the 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act, 1976, casts an obligation on the State to ensure that opportunities for securing justice are not lost due to financial constraints, thereby making legal aid an essential component of the country's governance framework. This provision aims to eliminate socio-economic barriers that prevent access to justice. It embodies the philosophy of the Directive Principles, recognizing that legal aid is essential for achieving substantive equality.
- 2.5 The 73rd and 74th Constitutional Amendment Acts, 1992, introduced Part IX (The Panchayats) and Part IXA (The Municipalities), respectively, institutionalizing local self-governance through Panchayati Raj Institutions (hereinafter referred as "PRIs") and Urban Local Bodies (hereinafter referred as "ULBs"). In line with this, Article 243G empowers PRIs to implement schemes related to social justice, while Article 243W grants similar powers to ULBs. These provisions gave effect to decentralized governance and empowered local bodies to carry out legal awareness initiatives at the grassroots level, ensuring that access to justice extends beyond urban centers to rural and peri-urban areas.
- 2.6 To incorporate these constitutional guarantees into an actionable framework, the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987 was enacted, establishing a structured mechanism for delivering legal aid at multiple levels. This Act institutionalized NALSA, State Legal Services Authority (hereinafter referred as "SLSA"), District legal Services Authority (hereinafter referred as "DLSA"), Taluk Legal Services Committee (hereinafter referred as "TLSC"), Supreme Court legal Services Committee and High Court legal Services committee, ensuring the systematic implementation of legal awareness programs across the country.
- 2.7 Through the NALSA (Free and Competent Legal Services) Regulations, 2010, NALSA aims to ensure the delivery of competent legal services by establishing a structured system for providing free legal aid. These regulations outline the appointment of panel and retainer lawyers, the functioning of front offices and the formation of Monitoring and Mentoring Committees to supervise and enhance the quality of legal assistance.
- 2.8 Building upon this, the NALSA Legal Aid Defence Counsel System (LADCS) was introduced to provide dedicated and competent legal representation in criminal cases, particularly benefiting underprivileged and marginalised communities. This system institutionalises a system where full-time legal aid counsels at the district level ensure that those in need receive consistent and quality legal assistance throughout their legal journey.
- 2.9 At the grassroots level, in rural areas, the NALSA (Legal Services Clinics) Regulations, 2011, mandates the establishment of Legal Aid Clinics in villages, bringing legal assistance closer to those who need it the most.
- 2.10 NALSA, while addressing Pan-India concerns, has consistently formulated schemes to tackle ground-level realities. Under the NALSA Para Legal Volunteers (PLV) Scheme, Para Legal Volunteers (hereinafter referred as "PLVs") are trained and deployed to conduct door-to-door legal awareness campaigns, assist individuals in accessing legal services and serve as the first point of contact for legal aid. In addition to the PLV Scheme, NALSA has developed several other key initiatives focusing on grassroots issues. These include NALSA (Legal Services to Disaster Victims Through Legal Services Authorities) Scheme, 2010, NALSA (Victims of Trafficking and Commercial Sexual Exploitation) Scheme, 2015, NALSA (Legal Services to Workers in the Unorganized Sector) Scheme, 2015, NALSA (Effective Implementation of Poverty Alleviation Schemes) Scheme, 2015, NALSA (Protection and Enforcement of Tribal Rights) Scheme, 2015, NALSA (Legal Services for Differently Abled Children) Scheme, 2015, etc. These schemes reflect NALSA's commitment to ensuring legal aid reaches the most vulnerable sections of society.

- 2.11 To maximize its outreach and ensure accessible legal aid, NALSA operates a National Helpline-Toll-Free No. 15100, maintains a user-friendly website and conducts nationwide campaigns to promote legal awareness. Notable campaigns include the Six-Week Legal Awareness and Outreach Program as part of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, the Special Campaign for Old and Terminally-Ill Prisoners and the Special Pan-India campaign of Under Trial Prisoners Review Committee. Additionally, NALSA regularly formulates Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) to standardize legal aid delivery, ensure uniform implementation across jurisdictions, enhance efficiency and maintain compliance with legal frameworks while improving access to justice for marginalized communities.
- 2.12 While the LSA Act along with NALSA regulations, digital infrastructure, human resource, grassroot level framework, campaigns, SOPs and schemes provide a mechanism for accessing legal aid, government policies have also played a crucial role in expanding the scope of legal awareness and justice delivery.
- 2.13 Recognizing the need for modern interventions, the Department of Justice (DoJ) launched the DISHA (Designing Innovative Solutions for Holistic Access to Justice) Scheme in 2021, to integrate technology, community engagement and institutional support for legal assistance in rural areas. A key component, the Tele-Law Initiative, offers pre-litigation legal advice through video conferencing and telephone services via Common Service Centres (hereinafter referred as "CSCs"). The scheme also promotes Pro Bono Legal Services, mobilizing legal professionals to assist vulnerable groups. Additionally, it focuses on legal literacy through interactive initiatives like street plays, legal awareness films, mobile legal aid vans and IEC campaigns, engaging Panchayats, SHGs, ASHA and Anganwadi workers to reach marginalized communities.
- 2.14 Thus, the constitutional framework, legislative provisions and policy interventions together create a comprehensive and multi-dimensional approach to legal awareness and access to justice.

3. ESTABLISHING A SCHEME TO INSTITUTIONALIZE LEGAL AID AWARENESS THROUGH LOCAL BODIES

Recognizing the challenges of legal awareness and the need for a structured, systematic approach, NALSA is introducing the NALSA (JAGRITI- Justice Awareness for Grassroots Information and Transparency Initiative) Scheme, 2025. This initiative aims to institutionalize legal aid outreach within the existing Local Self-Government Institutions (hereinafter referred as "LSGI") framework. By collaborating with LSGI and using community institutions such as Panchayat Bhawans, Nagar panchayats, local schools and dispensaries, the Scheme ensures that NALSA's legal aid initiatives effectively reach every eligible beneficiary at the grassroots level.

3.1. Objectives of the Scheme:

- a. Institutionalizing Legal Awareness: The aim of the Scheme is to integrate the LSGI framework with LSIs and to disseminate information regarding legal aid.
- b. Utilizing Public Places and Buildings: Using existing community LSGI such as Panchayat Bhawans, Nagar Panchayats, school and dispensaries, etc., to disseminate legal information, create awareness and provide assistance to masses.
- c. Legal Empowerment and Access to Justice: Ensure effective access to justice and timely legal aid services to be provided to the beneficiaries under Section 12 of the Legal Services Authorities Act, 1987.
- d. Maximising the Outreach of Legal Aid Services: By reaching out to the marginalized sections of society, the present Scheme aims to create awareness on legal rights and remedies for the infringement thereof.
- e. Creating Database of Legal Aid Services: By collating comprehensively the materials in print and digital format which is to be disseminated throughout the country, NALSA, under the present Scheme, aims to create an institutional memory of the services delivered to the weaker and marginalised sections of the society.
- f. Informed Citizenry: The Scheme informs the citizens about their rights, remedies and its enforcement thereof to bridge the gap between the citizens and the legal landscape. By extending the legal services to the beneficiaries under the LSA Act, this Scheme aims to build an informed citizenry. This is in alignment with the fundamental duty enshrined under Article 51A, i.e., to strive towards excellence in all spheres of individual and collective activity so that the nation constantly rises to higher levels of endeavour and achievement.
- g. Encouraging Community Participation: Actively involve community leaders, self-help groups (hereinafter referred as “SHGs”) and ASHA workers to ensure effective dissemination and outreach.
